Seems even like the whole module shouldn't be build under windows, as there is no oident build.
If it should be possible to build the config anyway i.e. for a linux router in the network the attached patch should work.

Sorry, but in the first one the permissions for the umask were wrong.

Sorry, but that doesn't fix the build,
umask is known under windows but there are two things.
At first umask is in windows deklared in the io.h
and the masks are named different under windows, so it doesn't build at all.
