I deleted the channel history of a few channels, which allows to proceed with the backlog until it gets stuck here:

Okay, I got this solved by removing the according logs. But isn't this something quassel should deal with itself?

This is still an issue and I'm having the same problem today:

Pruning my backlogs to fix it but this is kinda concerning to me is there an issue with the database code that could cause issues in the future with weird strings from irc?

Pasting another of the errors so maybe more data can help figure this out.

In this case it looks like the IRC line was simply "x01"
