

Quassel IRC - Bug #342

A hidden query buffer won't be redisplayed when you query that person again.

10/08/2008 12:53 PM - sph

Status:	Closed	Start date:
Priority:	Normal	Due date:
Assignee:		% Done:	0%
Category:	Quassel Client	Estimated time:	0.00 hour
Target version:		OS:	Any
Version:	0.3.0.x
Description
Reproduce: 1) /query person 2) Say something 3) Right click -> Hide Buffer 4) /query person again No window is opened and no buffer is added to the bufferlist, which makes it kinda hard to talk to that person again :) Using the "Query" menu option in the nickname's context menu does open a new window, but it doesn't show the name in the bufferlist.
Related issues:
Related to Quassel IRC - Feature #341: Quassel should be able to show notices...		Feedback
Related to Quassel IRC - Feature #425: /query should jump to the (newly opened) channel...		Resolved
Has duplicate Quassel IRC - Bug #866: Rejoining a temporarily hidden channel ...		Resolved	12/03/2009

History

#1 - 12/28/2008 01:51 AM - Sputnik

- Priority changed from High to Normal

#2 - 01/20/2009 04:53 PM - Sputnik

- Status changed from New to Confirmed

- Version set to 0.3.1+

#3 - 01/20/2009 04:54 PM - kitterma

Still an issue as of 090119. Additionally, if I receive input from someone else in the buffer, it appears on the bufferlist again, but if I send information in the buffer, it does not. If just typing information in the buffer would cause it to reappear on the bufferlist that would help a lot.

#4 - 05/26/2009 05:09 AM - Daegalus

The same can be applied to channels that have been Parted from and temporarily hidden. When I join them again, It will not show them until someone in that channel talks. You have to manually go in and make it show for you to use it.

#5 - 03/01/2012 08:34 PM - al

- Status changed from Confirmed to Closed

- Version changed from 0.3.1+ to 0.3.0.x